A seed of light for horses in need

Rancho de Cariño began with the unplanned rescue of two horses from extreme trauma and abuse. Today it cares for more horses (and a donkey), healing them with love and freedom.

Horses that are well cared for can live more than 30 years. In parts of Mexico, many don't live past 10, because of malnutrition, overwork, isolation and neglect.

Each experience is a chance to connect closely with these horses and be part of their continued healing. Your booking or donation is what keeps this work going.

> Rancho de Cariño is a seed of light, giving hope to animals in need and offering a new model of care where love, freedom, wellbeing and healing coexist. Time and again, this sacred work has shown that rescue happens in both directions.
